

A month!

It's been over a month since I wrote!

In that month Jacque and I have gone on a hiatus.

I've had breakthroughs in salsa dancing.

I realized how out of shape I am after starting with Aflac.

I've started changing that last sentence.

I've done a few photoshoots as a photographer.

I've met some amazing people who are beautiful inside and out.

I've strengthened my core group of friends.

I've been helped by and helped out a team.

I've started to realize how much worth I actually have to many people.

And, if you're reading this, I love you!
