

Hobby Lobby

So Hobby Lobby decided to give “my people” the “you people” treatment.

Someone asked Hobby Lobby why they didn’t stock Chanukah items and the employee responded “We don’t cater to you people”.

You people, huh?

Fine. You’re on my troll list.

I mean, you’re not really losing me as a customer: after your CEO decided to fight against contraception for his female employees and then sue the government to get an exemption, I decided never to shop at your store.

Now, though, it’s personal.

Yup.

Hobby Lobby
September 28

Next week will kick off an entire month of celebration for the spookiest time of the year! Be sure to join us for a hauntingly good time!

Like · Comment · Share 12

629 people like this. Top Comments

Eddie Arriola So you'll stock decorations and supplies for a Pagan holiday (other than Christmas/Yule and Easter/Ostara) but not Chanukah?

Tell me again about the CEO's values.
Like · Reply · a few seconds ago